About Spire Research and Consulting

Spire Research and Consulting is a leader in strategic market research and consulting. Its focus lies in highly customized, strategic research studies supplied to leading organizations in global emerging markets - the Asia-Pacific, Latin America, Middle East, Africa and Russia/CIS.

Spire was founded by Leon Perera and Elizabeth Koh in 2000. Its aim was to provide holistic studies of the business eco-system to aid strategic decision-making around market growth and entry. It sought to fill a gap in the industry for customized, strategic research that went beyond available multi-client reports, management consulting and traditional research offerings.

Spire's management team works with its eleven country offices, international Advisors and local associates in over 35 countries to bring to each project the highest standards of research conceptualization, execution and delivery.

To date, Spire has delivered over 2,500 market research and consulting projects for over 50 Global Fortune 1000 firms, a number of leading Asia-based enterprises and Government agencies in twelve countries. Its research footprint spans 110 cities in over 35 countries.

Spire operates nine full-service country offices with approximately 100 employees in the Asia Pacific region. These are located in Greater China (Shanghai), India, Indonesia, Japan, Malaysia, Singapore, South Korea, Thailand and Vietnam. New offices in Germany and Italy became operational in late 2017 under the umbrella of Bexuco, a YAMADA Consulting Group company.

Merger Agreement

Spire is proud to announce its merger with YAMADA Consulting Group Co., Ltd. (YCG), which is a leading independent consulting group and listed on Tokyo Stock Exchange in Japan. The merger, effective from 15 April 2016, makes Spire part of a much larger and publicly listed corporate group, which is expected to create more access to new consulting solutions, economies of scale, investment resources and synergistic business development possibilities.

YCG acquired an 80 per cent stake in Spire Research and Consulting Pte Ltd, the parent company for the Spire Research and Consulting group of companies. Leon Perera, the co-founder of Spire, will continue to serve as the CEO of the group, retaining a 20 per cent stake.

With the merger, the Spire Research and Consulting brand becomes the global brand for YCG outside of Japan.

Spire's capabilities and Network in Japan

With the merger, Spire will be able to leverage the consulting know-how and tools developed by YCG such as corporate restructuring, M&A and business succession planning consulting. Spire also gains enhanced access to the Japanese market through YCG's network of offices across Japan.

YAMADA Consulting Group Co., Ltd or YCG was established in the year 2000. YCG provides research and consulting services in order to support overseas business decision making, primarily for Japanese companies. YCG's services include market research, competitor analysis, value chain analysis, regulatory and policy research, and partner selection for supplier, customer, and other business partners.

Other than research and consulting, YCG also provides support for company establishment, organizational design, and business execution, especially in the early stage of expansion.

YCG's network is currently spread over 7 prefectures in Japan including Sendai, Nagoya, Osaka, Kyoto, Kobe, Fukuoka, with its headquarters in Tokyo. YCG also has its branches and representative offices located in Singapore, China, Thailand and Malaysia.
